Marchers Told to Bring Food, Water

(ANP Washington Bureau) WASHINGTON (ANP) — Illinois Sen. Paul Douglas last week urged persons planning to attend the Aug. 28 civil rights demonstration in Washington to bring enough food and water for at least two meals.

The Senator said there would be tremendous problems with food and water supply if only 50,000 persons were expected to come to

Welsh Explains Firmer Stand On Rights Order to Dept. Heads

All of Legal Age Have Right to Be Served: Gov.

Taking an even firmer stand on state civil rights issues, Gov. Matthew E. Welsh Tuesday conferred with 30 Indiana state department heads and made clear certain rights measures he wants to be taken.

He warned Joe Harris, chairman of the Indiana Alcoholic Beverage Commission that anyone of legal age, regardless of race, has the right to be served in any public tavern, cocktail lounge or package store.

There was somewhat of a furor between Welsh and Harris as to the enforcement of the Civil Rights decree since Harris said that he did not think it legal to suspend license because of refusal of service to certain customers.

Welsh also admitted that the enforcement of such a demand will present somewhat of a problem.

After the conference, the Governor, however, announced that the ABC would "deal" with liquor retailers who offer discriminatory service but he did not specify the revoking of license.

He did mention however "persuasion."

Welsh also instructed each department to appoint someone as an "equal opportunity officer," who will deal extensively with equal rights.

The "opportunity officers" are to maintain close contact with each other, their department heads and the Indiana Civil Rights Commission.

The chief executive's bold new rights "suggestions" are in direct compliance with his executive order on civil rights issued during the spring, ordering all establishments licensed by the state to drop whatever discriminatory practices they may hold.

LICENSES ARE ISSUED by the state to all retail businesses, doctors, dentists, architects, barbers, beauticians, real estate men and several other business groups.

The State Health Board, readily showed its compliance to Welsh's demands. Director Andrew Offutt said that the Health Board would refuse license to any establishment which did not sign a compliance certificate to Welsh's executive order.

WEAPONS AGAINST LIFE: Pictured above are a partially-filled bottle of alcohol and a .12 gauge shotgun both of which 16-year-old Jonathan Holeman (inset) 1353 W. 27th, were reported to have used in taking his own life Monday evening before the gun accidentally fired when a 10-year-old girl attempted to grab the gun from the victim. Holeman, who had told friends he was going to kill himself, first drank a portion of the alcohol and then placed the gun to his body and pulled the trigger twice—but the gun misfired. Doty Clifford grabbed the gun and it fired, the blast striking Holeman in the chest and killing him instantly, according to reports. The incident occurred in the Clifford home at 2731 Burton. Hood Says Withdrawal Only Temporary; Officials May Push for His Expulsion

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (ANP) — The withdrawal of James A. Hood as a student from the University of Alabama does not mean the end of his college career there, his attorney, Arthur B. Shores said here last week.

Shores said that while it was true Hood was withdrawing from the summer session on advice of his physician, it was quite possible that his condition would permit his re-enrollment for the fall term which begins next month.

However, university authorities indicated that Hood would not be permitted to re-enroll until a hearing on charges against him are disposed of. The charges, while not specific, revolve around statements he is supposed to have made that were critical of the university and of Gov. George Wallace, who opposed his entry at the school.

JAMES HOOD
... With U.S. Marshal

THE VAGUE CHARGES against Hood are similar to those used as a basis to expel Autherine Lucy, the university's first Negro student, three days after her enrollment in 1956.

In Montgomery, a spokesman in Wallace's office said the board of trustees of the university — of which Wallace is an ex-officio member — had "more than enough" evidence to expel Hood.

Hood, at his home in East Gadsden, said he was "tired, both physically and mentally. I want to take a temporary rest."

Hood said he was going to take a vacation but refused to say where he planned to go.

The announcement came exactly two months after Hood and Vivian Malone, entered the all-white university with a federal guard which forced

Gov. Wallace aside. Jefferson A. Bennett, university administrative vice-president, said Shores had requested—and was granted a postponement of a hearing before the board for Hood. No new date was set for the hearing.

Bennett refused to comment on another hearing which Shores said had been scheduled before the dean of men's disciplinary committee, on the same charges.

The exact charges against Hood have not been announced, nor would Hood or university officials reveal them.

ON AUG. 5, the executive committee of the university board of trustees met and considered reports of Hood's speech and reportedly listened to tape recordings of it supplied by Wallace's office. The committee said it had "found no evidence" to substantiate the charges Hood allegedly made.

Bennett said charges that Hood had attacked university and state

New Prostitution Ring Involves At Least 1 Teenager

BY A STAFF REPORTER

Arrests continued this week as police maintained their probe into a second possible interracial prostitution ring, involving at least one teenager, operating here.

Led by Det. Sgt. William Rapier and Det. Richard Collins of the juvenile bureau, police arrested two persons Thursday morning and three others Wednesday. Of the five, two are white.

The alleged ring was disclosed late last month after a 17-year-old Negro girl revealed she had been working as a call girl from a near downtown hotel. A total of seven persons had been arrested Thursday afternoon.

Arrested Thursday were Donald McGee, 3268 N. College, and William Rose, 1920 Yandes. The 28-year-old McGee, who is white, is charged with enticing a female into an immoral place. Rose, 41, is charged with associating with a prostitute.

The two men are scheduled to appear in Municipal Court 4 Friday morning before Judge William T. Sharp.

THOSE ARRESTED Wednesday were Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Lake, 1325 N. College, and Rosemary Trusty, 2103 Broadway. Miss Trusty is white. Mr. and Mrs. Lake are charged with enticing female persons for the purpose of prostitution. The white woman was picked up on the same charge plus an additional charge of pandering.

The three alleged sex offenders appeared in Court 4 Wednesday morning. They were released on $250 bond each and their cases were continued until Sept. 23.

Also appearing was the 17-year-old girl. Having been waved to criminal court Tuesday, the young woman appeared on a charge of prostitution. She will reappear Sept. 24.

Last week, Sgt. Rapier and Det. Collins arrested a man whom the girl said "received $4 of every $10-trick she turned."

The man was identified as Elliott Malone, 1428 W. 23rd. He is free on $500 bond and is scheduled to reappear in court Aug. 28 on a charge of aiding and abetting unlawful intercourse.

The suspected ring was exposed after the girl talked to police in July after the man for which she worked at the time beat her with the butt of a rifle and a cane.

Police are seeking the man and at least two others on charges ranging from procuring females for houses of prostitution to contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

The man who beat the girl reportedly had the girl working in the hotel and an address on Broadway along with two or three other women. It was not immediately known whether or not the others were teenagers.

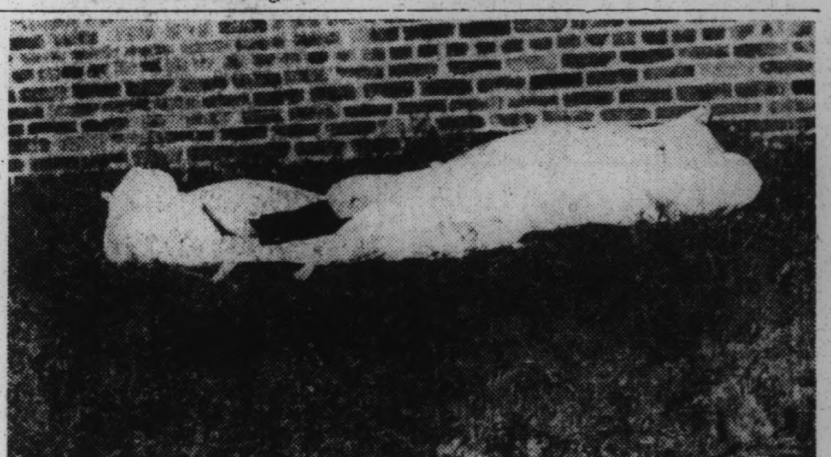

Police theorized that he beat Miss Richardson, a former inmate of the Indiana Girls School, because "she had become almost inactive in turning the tricks."

NAACP Loses Head Of Gary Chapter

GARY, Ind. (ANP) — George Staab has resigned as president of the newly formed Gary chapter of the National Assn. for the Advancement of White People. He gave no explanation for leaving the post.

The resignation came as Dale Baxter, the group's regional director, announced that the organization will stop picketing of Gary hospitals.

Hospital administrators and civil rights groups last week reached agreement on policies governing employment of personnel and hospital admissions.

BODY FOUND IN CANAL: The body of 23-year-old E. J. McClennen (covered by canvas), 1625 N. New Jersey, is shown lying next to the Barrett Coal and Fuel Company, 340 W. Michigan, after it was pulled from the Indianapolis Water Company Canal at Michigan and Indiana late Sunday evening. Although McClennen, known as "Sweetpea," met death by drowning, police said Thursday they had not ruled out the possibility of foul play. The body had been in the water several days, according to reports.

PICNIC - O - GRAM

"GOODY" DAY, MONDAY WEEK

One week from this coming Monday this newspaper will sponsor its 33rd Annual Picnic for several thousand underprivileged boys and girls. Boy Scouts Camp Belzer Reservation is again the chosen site for the extravaganza. In the past the picnic guest list has included several thousand kiddies that might be listed as other than underprivileged. This year things and circumstances have forced the management to confine the guest list to just those youngsters who are between the ages of 6 and 12 years old and are considered underprivileged.

The former practice of issuing tickets through several outlets will be abandoned as a pre-cautionary measure in gaining and maintaining control of the affair. Tickets will be given out only at The Recorder office, 518 Indiana Avenue. Persons who meet the age requirements will be issued tickets on Saturday of this week. The hours will be between 7 o'clock in the morning until 7 o'clock in the evening. Tickets will be given out on a first come first served basis. Under no circumstances will anyone be given more than one ticket.

Some of the features of this year's affair will be sack races, pie-eating contest, greasy watermelon contest, apple-bobbing contest, catch-the-greasy pig contest and a treasure hunt contest.

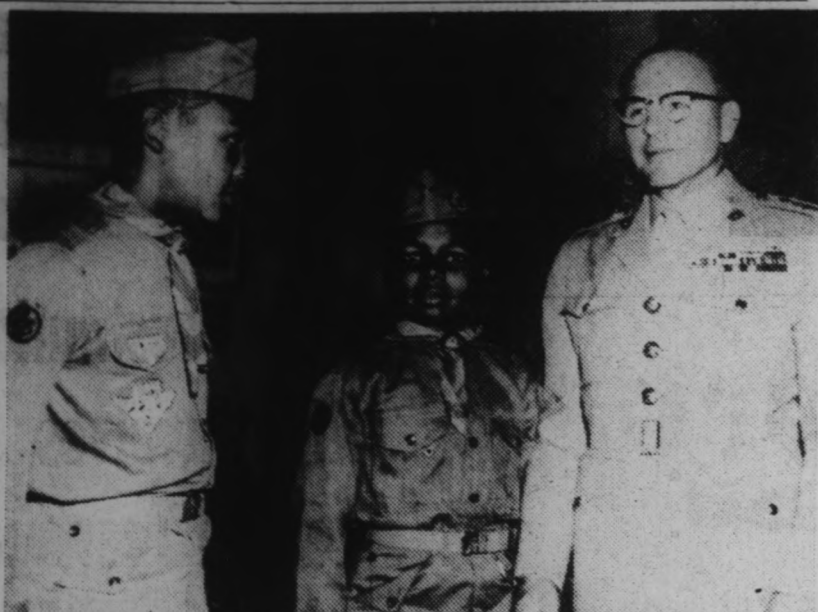

ATTENTION CHURCHES

Churches that sent members of their Sunday Schools to last year's picnic are requested to call the circulation department immediately if they wish to receive a share of the tickets allotted to churches for this year's picnic. Interested parties should contact this office not later than Saturday morning of this week.

CALLING ALL ENTERTAINERS

An urgent appeal is being made by the management of this newspaper for entertainers to participate in the big variety show to be staged at this year's Recorder picnic.

If you dance, sing or perform in any way and desire to offer your services, please call MELORE 4-1545, circulation department. A special appeal is made for all persons who participated in the recent talent contest at Northwestern Park. Those persons are being sought to help entertain our guest at the picnic. If you read this announcement and should you have any knowledge of such persons kindly have them contact us at the above given phone number.

BOY SCOUT AND COMMANDANT: William Randolph (center), Washington, D.C., is shown with General David M. Shoup, commandant of the Marine Corps, shortly after the general presented Randolph his official Boy Scout registration card this week. Randolph's meeting with the general climaxed a seven-month search which began in January after newly formed Troop 84 received its charter. At that time Randolph, who was a member of the original group of scouts, had moved and could not be presented his registration card. However, through the efforts of the sponsors (the men of Marine Barracks, Washington) young Randolph was finally located. Watching the ceremony is William Lawrence, senior patrol leader of the troop.

Hillside Christian Church Center Names Parish Caller

Hillside Christian Church Center has named John Christian Hirschler parish caller—a capacity in which he will aid in surveying and calling Hillside area residents inviting them to become a part of the church membership.

way of thinking and everyone should live as the New Testament says they should.

Rev. William Barker, Hillside pastor, said the white clergyman's appointment is in keeping with the church's policy of integrating the church membership and staff. He announced that Mr. Hirschler will represent the church at the National Christian Missionary Convention Aug. 19-25 in Detroit.

ONE OF THE FIRST 10 charter members of Hillside Christian Church Center, the new parish caller earned his Master's Degree from the University of Chicago's Divinity School; Bachelor's Degree from Drake University, Des Moines, Ia., and Bachelor of Divinity Degree from Union Seminary. He also attended Teachers College at Columbia University, New York City, and was graduated from the Johnson Bible College.

The 72-year-old religious leader, a native of Utica, Kansas, is former pastor of Tyndall Town Community Church.

At one time he was secretary of the Church Federation's Council of Church Men, a group he and Atty. Henry J. Richardson helped organize. Mr. Hirschler also succeeded Atty. Richardson as chairman of the Federation's radio committee.

Bombed Churches Used in Vote Drive Being Rebuilt in Georgia

ATLANTA, Ga. — Thanks to vigorous and thus far successful work of a special Southern Christian Leadership Conference committee, three Southwest Georgia churches destroyed by racist bombings and fire nearly a year ago are well on the way to being replaced.

Construction began last week as building materials were hauled to the site of the leveled churches by the Blaylock McKinnin Construction firm of Albany, Ga., and Jacksonville, Fla.

Obviously the bigoted work of white segregationists, the Shady Grove Baptist Church in Lee County, Ga., and the Mt. Olive and Mt. Mary Baptist Churches in Terrell County were those destroyed.

THE FACT THAT they had either been used as voter registration headquarters in mid-summer, 1962 or their ministers had participated in protest demonstrations left little doubt in officials' minds that the destruction was work to discourage voter campaigns.

Speakeading the drive to rebuild the churches is baseball's immortal figure, Jackie Robinson, in conjunction with the SCLC, headed by Dr. Martin Luther King. Co-ordinating the fund-raising campaign was Dr. King's executive assistant, Rev. Wyatt Tee Walker.

Robinson first intervened Sept. 9, 1962 when the second church was "fired" in the Southern hotspot of Albany. He immediately agreed to serve as national chairman of the SCLC Church Rebuilding Fund.

Robinson's first move was to make a $5,000 donation in behalf of his employer, William Black, president of New York's Chock Full 'O Nuts restaurant chain. A $10,000 pack from New York Governor Nelson Rockefeller followed.

Donations then began to flow in. Among the latter, the Georgia chapter of the American Institute of Architects, led by Joseph Amisano, assumed responsibility for preparing sketches and blue prints free of charge. The Trappists Monks of Conyers, Ga., volunteered to provide the stained glass windows for the three sanctuaries.

Others, including the Atlanta Constitution newspaper and Sadler, spiritual life director of Baptist State Nurses Convention is headed by Mrs. Blanche Brown, president. Other officers are Mmes. Katie Morton, 1st vice-president; Alma J. Mimms, 2nd vice-president; Ophelia Brooks, secretary; Mary E. Byrd, assistant secretary; Stella Jamerson, treasurer; Ozella Craig, chorister, and Ruby Rhodes, pianist.

Special convention guest was Dr. E. S. Branch of Houston, National Baptist Convention of America foreign mission board corresponding secretary, who spoke at the closing session.

DURING REV. BELL'S presidency the Indiana Baptist Headquarters, for a number of years located on North Capitol, was paid off. The ushers, ministers wives, state youth, and brotherhood convention were also organized.

Older ministers attending the convention were Elder Young, Dr. G. L. Lillard, Olivet Baptist Church minister, and Rev. Gaines of Madison, Second Baptist Church minister.

Rev. Dew of Muncie, Union Baptist Church minister, will be host to the 1964 session.

FHA Issues Non-Discriminatory List of Available Property

As the result of President Kennedy's Executive Order banning discrimination in federally-subsidized housing, the local branch of the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) has made available for publication a list of homes which may be purchased on a non-discriminatory basis.

The list, published for the first time for the benefit of the general public, features homes in all sections of the state.

ANY INDIVIDUAL, regardless of race, creed or color, or any company or corporation meeting the down payment and credit requirements of the FHA, may offer to buy any of the homes.

There are three methods by which FHA acquired properties may be purchased: (1) The buyer pays all cash, (2) the buyer obtains a mortgage loan from a private lender and uses the mortgage proceeds to buy the home from FHA, and (3) the buyer gives a mortgage which will be held by FHA.

In a release dated Aug. 1, the FHA stated that all their properties are issued on an "open basis," which means a buyer can deal through any qualified or licensed local real estate broker, or deal directly with the FHA.

Further information concerning the homes may be acquired by contacting the local FHA office, 333 N. Pennsylvania.

When making inquiry to the office, the specific property should be identified by giving the FHA case number and the property address.

Homes are listed in Indianapolis, Beech Grove, Crawfordsville, Lebanon, Greentown, Franklin, Mooresville, New Whiteland, Shelbyville, Westfield, Fort Wayne, New Haven, Chesterfield, Clarksville, Gas City, Kokomo, Marion, Muncie, New Castle, Unionland, Evansville, Cynthiana, Jeffersonville, Brazil, Clinton, and Terre Haute. Goldwater Supporters Want GOP For White Man's Party

Conservative Republican supporters of Sen. Barry Goldwater want the GOP to become "the white man's party," Jackie Robinson, famed former baseball star said last week in a Saturday Evening Post magazine article.

"The senator's friends want a white-republican White House," said Robinson as he decried the "striking parallel" between Black Muslim thinking and that of the Goldwater supporters.

"Muslims," he maintained, "seek some sort of earthly black heaven—a separate black society within a separate black state. Some of the Goldwater conservatives proclaim a goal ironically similar. And to get what they want, both plan to shunt the Negro to the side."

GOLDWATER REPUBLICANS commented the former baseball star, "are tantalized by the idea that they can win a national election without the Negro vote, without emphasizing the explosive, emotion-charged civil rights issue. Their reasoning puzzles me."

Recalling that "soft pedaling" on the civil rights issue was largely responsible for the defeat of Richard Nixon in the 1960 presidential election, Robinson said Nixon indicated he had "written off the Negro vote and the Negro voters retaliating by writing off Mr. Nixon."

"The lily-white leaders among the Republicans are exhibiting a genius for misreading current events," he added. "I believe the masses of southern whites would be relieved to get the monkey of segregation off their backs. I believe they are becoming increasingly aware that this beast makes a sham out of their sincere, personal religious views, destroys their economy, and gives their communities a negative and ugly image."

Indicating that he believes the temper of the southern whites is changing, Robinson said, "Conservative Republicans should be alarmed at the prospect of forming a white man's party."

"Goldwater," he maintained, "upholds the filibuster and gives lip service to the objective of the Supreme Court desegregation ruling."

Admitting that he has criticized the Kennedy Administration for its "token approach" on civil rights, Robinson said he was impressed by the President's civil rights message to Congress which he described as "the words of a statesman, not simply a politician."

"I will take him (President Kennedy) over Barry Goldwater any day of the week."

Local NAPE to Sponsor Bus To N.Y. Meeting

In conjunction with the Golden Anniversary Convention of the National Alliance of Postal Employees (NAPE) in New York City, the local branch of the organization will sponsor a bus trip to the convention site Aug. 17.

The convention will be held Aug. 19 to 25 at New York's Hotel Henry Hudson.

Some of the other attractions at the carnival were games such as penny pitching, fishing balloon throwing and a treasure chest game.

To interest others, hot dogs, pop and popcorn were on sale. The carnival was ended with the raffling off of four cakes, donated by the residents.

Noted Ga. Cleric To Speak Here For Voters' Rally

Rev. Martin Luther King's right hand aide in the civil rights struggles in the South, Rev. Ralph Abernathy of Atlanta, will appear at a voter registration rally here Sunday, August 18.

The announcement was made by Rev. Andrew J. Brown, Indianapolis Social Action Council chairman, who said the gathering will be at 7 p.m. in Greater St. John Baptist Church, 17th and Martindale.

Sponsored by ISAC, the meeting is aimed at informing the importance of registering and really voting. "We hope to arouse concern in the Negro about citizenship, what a great price is being paid for it in the south, and what a privilege we have in the north to use it, but how it's going to waste," Rev. Brown stated.

Rev. Abernathy will arrive here from Detroit. Herman Walker is executive director of ISAC. John Torain is voter registration chairman.

officials, including Wallace, in speeches at Gadsden were "extremely serious."

"None of the statements supposedly made by Hood... appear to be true," he said.

Miss Malone said meanwhile, an "awful lot has happened since summer started." She refused to elaborate on that.

"I can see no reason why I should withdraw just now," she said. "I think I am doing all right in school so far."

David McGlaughery, 26, a third Negro, attending classes at the university's Huntsville campus could not be reached for a statement, but apparently he is having no difficulty.

O. A. Johnsons' Elaborate 50th Wedding Anniversary Reception at Flanner House

One of Indianapolis' socially prominent couples, who are active in several phases of community life, Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Johnson, greeted over 200 guests and well-wishers at their resplendent Golden Anniversary Wedding reception Sunday evening at Flanner House on the city's near westside. The pair, who met at Columbia orchid corsages—a gold one received from her hubby, and a gold tinted one presented as a special gift from Mr. and Mrs. Norman Merrifield. Seen in the receiving line greeting guests with the stately honorees were Mrs. Otis Ralph Bryant, reception hostess; Miss Blanche Johnson, Mr. Johnson's added to the table lustre. Delicious orange punch was served from crystal service. Adding beauty and color to the setting was a profusion of gorgeous seasonal flowers arranged in an artistic manner. The hostesses, easily identified by lovely gold and light yellow carnation corsages accented with gold net and ribbon, were Mes. Bryant, Clinto, Walter Johnson, Lionel F. Artis, Walter Madux, Edward Weathers, Mercer Mance, Bernard Greene, Merritt Pace, Patrick Powell, Robert Whitney, R. H. Peoples, Howard Enix, and Charleston Cox.

Also Mes. Dona Goodwin, Rose Thompson, Alma Jones, Ethel Cox, Pauline Craig, Annie Anderson, Martha Bradley, and Miss Phyllis Waters.

Picturesque arrangements of gold and white flowers were in evidence in key spots throughout the room.

Conversation pieces were some of the meaningful items used when Mr. and Mrs. Johnson originally repeated vows a half-century ago, including her wedding gown, wedding invitation, reception invitation, and miniature bride and groom which topped the cake.

The noted educator had selected for her wedding attire 50 years ago, a crepe de chine gown featuring a beaded panel front which was caught by a pearl beaded buckle. The lace neck and skirt were trimmed with beads and iridescent. She wore white satin slippers and white gloves. The dress was designed by the late Mrs. Mollie Offutt. Greenery surrounded the display and a large bow was placed in front of the table.

When The Johnsons came here, he became vice-principal of School 26, and when the doors of Crispus Attucks High School opened for the first students in 1927, Mrs. Johnson served as Dean of Girls. She retired 19 years later. They are natives of Hartford, Conn., and Lexington, Ky., respectively.

Mr. Johnson has worked many years with the Central Indiana Council of the Boy Scouts. He is now assistant counsel commissioner and holds the Silver Beaver rank. Mr. Johnson is vice-chairman of T-Sun-Ga-Ni District and was formerly on the Indiana Boy School's board.

Mrs. Johnson, a former president of the Flanner House Guild, is a founder of the Indianapolis Chapter of the National Council of Negro Women, Inc. She has also served as secretary of the Flanner House board of directors and has served a dual term as president of Alpha Mu Omega Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc.

She is past president of the Woman's Improvement Club, a member of Second Christian Church and its Service Club and chairman of the Rehabilitation Committee of the Indianapolis News' Anti-Crime Crusade.

Among the many priceless gift and floral tributes bestowed upon the deserving pair was an invaluable eight-blossom orchid plant—a gift from Mr. Johnson's fishing buddies.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson are agreed that "to have a small part in shaping the lives of young people is the greatest privilege that can come to one."

THE DELIGHTED honorees Sunday at Flanner House were Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Johnson of 426 Blackford who celebrated their Golden (50th) Wedding Anniversary at a reception attended by over 200 guests and well-wishers. The Johnsons posed for this meaningful picture in back of a display which showed several of the original items used when they married a half-century ago—including her wedding dress, wedding invitation, reception invitation, and miniature bride and groom which topped the cake. (Recorder photo by Houston Dickie.)

Women's Federated Club News

By CLARA PHILLIPS

Several Indiana Women attended the Central Regional meeting of the National Association of Colored Women's Clubs in Des Moines, Ia., at the Hotel Savery. The region is composed of some 12 states. Mrs. Bernice Lindsey of Indianapolis is president. Four former Indiana Association of Colored Women's Clubs presidents hold regional offices. They are Mes. Fannie J. Benford, vice-president at large; Juanita Brown, 1st vice-president; Millie Lyda, National Association of Colored Girls Clubs (NACGC) board chairman, and Blanche Cross, young adults chairman.

Miss Delia Silence, Purdue University teacher, was elected chairman of the executive board.

Besides Mrs. Silence and those previously mentioned, others attending from Indiana were Mes. J. Graves, Mary Fowlkes, Florence Stiggers, Dorothea Breeding, S. McElwayne, Waura Pasmore, Mary J. Hatfield, past Central NACGC supervisor, and Clara Phillips, your columnist.

Iowa's governor, a speaker at one session, spoke on many avenues opened to the Negro race in his state.

Mrs. Rosa Gragg of Detroit, Association of Colored Women's Clubs national president, also spoke leaving food for thought. Mrs. Ella P. Stewart, a past national president, presented a most unusual address on her travels around the world, including her contacts with people of various countries.

Mrs. Lindsey gave a wonderful speech on how her organization in Wisconsin is helping young drop-outs finish their schooling. They are also appealing to those who can not read and write and have set-up a real school situation to train them, which has become so popular that the license branch for driver education is sending more and more people to them.

Receive Degrees At Ball State Aug. Graduation

MUNCIE—Three Negro students were among those receiving bachelor or master's degrees at Ball State Teachers College's first August commencement program.

They were Juanita Dora Carter, 1630 Martindale, Master of Arts in Education; Rudolph Shaffner Wilson, 701 W. 13th, Master of Arts in Education, and Mildred Evelyn Jackson, 1510 Edgemont, Bachelor of Science in Social Studies.

White Glove Care

The fashion mark for summer is immaculate white gloves, washed after each wearing. To help them dry quickly, wring out freshly-washed gloves and roll in a towel. Unroll and blow into the gloves to force air into the fingers.

Next stuff the gloves lightly with Kleenex tissues to help the air circulate through the fabric. Hang up using a clothes pin. Even during the most humid weather you'll find your gloves will dry overnight.

Two talented church women will sneak during Woman's Day service Sunday. First Baptist Church, North Indianapolis, Elder F. F. Young is host minister.

Mrs. Ruth L. Davis, whose husband, Dr. F. Benjamin Davis, pastors New Bethel Baptist Church, will speak at 11 a.m. She is New Bethel's minister of music and is active in all phases of church work.

Mrs. Ollie Weeks, staunch member of Mt. Zion Baptist Church, will speak at 3 p.m. Mrs. Weeks, besides being devoted to Mt. Zion religious activities, is also active in the NAACP, both to which she has contributed greatly.

At 8 p.m. sacred music, directed by Frank Moore, will be presented by the senior choir.

It will certainly be worthwhile to hear both outstanding women speakers and the musical program.

Serving on the committee are Meses. Jessie Johnson, Rosa Mitchell and Naomi Taborn.

Mention of Dr. Davis reminds me that New Bethel's congregation accompanied him to Anderson Sunday for services at Second Baptist Church marking Rev. Robert L. Saunders' anniversary. Rev. Saunders had made rapid progress in state and national church circles.

Sunday morning at New Bethel more than 25 persons from Flanner House attended services. Also present were Mr. and Mrs. George W. Hancock, new executive secretary of the Fall Creek Parkway YMCA and his wife. I regret not being able to obtain Flanner House representatives' names.

My hubby, Howard Connell, returned home this week from Buffalo, N.Y., his old residence of 32 years. While there he attended St. John Baptist Church where he was formerly a member. Rev. B.C. McCarley is pastor.

Among business persons he renewed friendships with were personnel at Harry the Tailor's, where he once employed, and Sam's Cleaners. He also visited The Schmitts, Sherman L. Walker, one of the leading funeral directors; Calvin Reed, Earl Marborn, Mrs. Sallie Jackson, Mrs. Alberta Green and Miss Essie Brown. As a former member of the Jessie Clipper Post, he enjoyed seeing his old "comrades."

A grand musicale will be presented by the Carter Memorial Baptist Church's senior choir Sunday. Mrs. Lucie Love, reporter, says this promises to be one of the season's best. Rev. Estee Adams is pastor.

The nationally-known inspirational Gospel Choir of Cleveland will appear at New Bethel Baptist Church Sunday. The senior choir, with Mrs. Mary Chisley, president, is official host.

I received a notice from Waukegan, Ill., that Rev. Ford Gibson, formerly of Indianapolis, and his congregation dedicated their complete air-conditioning unit Sunday.

Top Fashion . . . Tiny Price

Understatement, that symbol of fashion elegance, has an added virtue when linked to a price tag. Voila! Fresh-as-spring Paris fashions now rate extra raves for their low-keyed cost.

One of the most beautiful examples is this soft focus suit from the spring collection of Claude Riviere. Mme. Riviere's belief in uncluttered, understated clothes that rely on line, fit and fabric for their elegance is what makes her fashions so wearable, anywhere in the world.

Here she interprets the over-blouse look with gentle shaping in fashion's number one fabric—and there's no fooling about "the linen look." This one's nonpareil original, 100 percent pure imported Irish Moygashel linen, fully lined in matching crepe. More fashion highlights: the narrower set-in sleeves, the hand-bound buttonholes, the touch of navy with watermelon red or brown with beige. Wearing the famous Faubourg St. Honoré label to herald its design source, the suit was manufactured in the U.S.A. to meet Sears and Mme. Riviere's exacting standards for fit and workmanship. Like the other suits, dresses, coats and accessories in Claude Riviere's collection, this fashion is exclusive in the U.S.A. with Sears, Roebuck and Co. Its price? Under $30.

AKAs Launch 5-Point Integration Program

Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Incorporated, has launched a five-point program with emphasis on the total integration of the Negro into American life. This objective is in alignment with national needs and goals. Since its founding in 1908, Alpha Kappa Alpha has been sensitive to social needs created by the changing times, and has continuously redesigned the pattern of its program to help meet such excecencies through the work of its chapters located throughout the United States and abroad.

Mrs. Julia B. Purnell, international president of the Sorority, announced plans for program implementation in a recent meeting with the Directorate body at headquarters in Chicago. Eschewing the values of a prima donna approach to program accomplishment, she emphasized the necessity of close cooperation with other organizations and programs committed to maintaining a cooperative and understanding spirit among human beings.

"No organization can go it alone any more than a person or a nation can go it alone in these times. We all need each other in trying to make a contribution that has real meaning," Mrs. Purnell said. The program calls for (1) establishment of counseling services for parents of drop-outs and for counseling and tutorial services for weak students and drop-outs on the elementary, secondary, and college level; (2) promotion of the creative and performing arts in opportunity-deprived areas in order to lift the tone and enrich the content of the lives of the people in these communities; (3) collection and distribution of books, pamphlets and other materials by and about Negroes and their accomplishments, and the writing of materials that do not now exist and are needed to help place the Negro and his contributions to world society in proper perspective; (4) support of civil rights legislation, organization of leadership training groups, interracial discussion groups and community-planning groups to provide a stronger basis for human understanding; initiation of and participation in programs of social action where discussions on local and national government will take place and know-how techniques learned for more effective participation in civic affairs; and (5) study of family living, home economy, budgeting and selective buying techniques.

The program will be known as PROJECT AKA, and will involve the abilities, interests and talents of the entire membership—40,000 women.

The 55-year-old sorority was established in Washington, D.C., at Howard University, and is the oldest Greek-letter organization established by Negro women in the world. Numbered among its membership are Marian Anderson, Madame Pandit, and the late Eleanor Roosevelt.

National headquarters are at 5211 S. Greenwood Avenue, Chicago. The organization has a long history of accomplishment. Believing that education is the key to successful living, Alpha Kappa Alpha instituted in 1923 its first national scholarship program, and in 1924, a program of national vocational guidance. Since that time, the sorority has awarded foreign study fellowships, conducted nation-wide programs in the use of the ballot, maintained a non-partisan lobby in Washington established and conducted for seven years a health project in the Mississippi Delta that administered medical care to more than 35,000 people in an effort to alleviate unhealthful conditions caused by the lack of adequate social and economic advantages. The project was directed by members of the sorority in the medical profession and non-members with medical backgrounds.

In 1948, Alpha Kappa Alpha took the lead in organizing the American Council on Human Rights, a cooperative venture with five other Greek-letter organizations, designed to achieve desirable goals in human rights and to help the public understand the significance of well-planned social action meant to achieve the passage of civil rights legislation for equal public accommodations, education, employment and elimination of segregated housing.

In 1958, a chapter of the sorority was organized in Liberia, West Africa, and plans have been culminated for establishment of chapters elsewhere abroad.

Oral Contraceptives Make Happier Marriages: Poll

"Marriages improve and the homes are more harmonious" when oral contraceptives are used to prevent unwanted pregnancies, according to a survey of studies conducted in the United States, Puerto Rico, and Mexico. "The authors state that: 'The importance, in terms of human happiness, of helping mothers to space their pregnancies, is reflected both in the relations between husband and wife and also in the effect on children whose emotional stability depends so much on a harmonious atmosphere in the home.'"

The report which summarizes published, in-press, and personal communications appears in the current issue of "Fertility and Sterility." Its authors are Drs. Edris Rice-Wray of Mexico, Joseph W. Goldzieher of San Antonio, and Alberto Aranda of Mexico, all leading clinicians in birth-control research.

Their study covered reports on the two oral contraceptive tablets available in the U.S. and others still in the experimental stage. All, they report "are 100 percent effective."

Eating With Fingers Can Be Done in Best of Taste

Is it ever proper to eat with your fingers? The etiquette experts say "yes."

Even at formal dinners, "finger-eating" is the well-mannered way for certain foods. Glamorous artichokes are properly eaten with the fingers down to the artichoke "heart," which is the fork category. Asparagus, when not covered with a sauce, may be picked up with the fingers in the best of style.

There's no need to hesitate to serve guests such dishes as fried chicken or corn on the cob because they are difficult to eat with knives and forks. Lead the way by picking up the food as a cue to your guests.

At "sit-down" dinners, the thoughtful hostess provides two large Kleenex table napkins at each place for wiping fingers. If you are serving buffet style, or at informal meals, place table-server boxes of napkins on the table so dinner guests can help themselves to extras.

Here are some additionally socially-correct finger foods: Bacon: If bacon is crisp, it may be eaten with the fingers. But if you prefer your bacon less than crumbly-dry, a knife and fork or required. CAKE: Tiny cakes, such as petit fours, should be eaten with the fingers. Pound cake may be broken into bite-size pieces and also eaten with the fingers. Sticky cake or a larger serving require a fork.

CHICKEN: Geography has some effect on chicken manners. According to the experts, fried or broiled chicken may be picked up and eaten with the fingers everywhere but in New York. In this eastern area, chicken served at formal dinners calls for knives and forks. Finger eating is for informal occasions only. In other areas it's considered perfectly acceptable to pick up serving-size pieces of fried or broiled chicken on all occasions.

RELISHES: Celery and olives should be eaten with the fingers except when they are part of a salad or a cooked dish. Radishes and small pickles also are finger-food.

FRUIT: Fresh apricots, cherries, grapes and plums always are eaten with the fingers. However, when eating fresh apples and pears at the table, peel and quarter with a fruit knife before eating with the fingers.

effective in fertility control. They are harmless to the organism. Subsequent fertility is increased and children born to these mothers are normal. . . . Libido tends to be increased. . . .

The survey covers reports on 22,948 cycles. In all studies, patients were given one or another of the drugs with instructions to take one tablet daily for 20 days beginning on the fifth day after the start of menstruation.

Drugs involved are Ortho-Novum, recently introduced by Ortho Pharmaceutical Corporation, Raritan, N.J.; Enovid, produced by G. D. Searle and Company, Chicago, and available since 1960, and seven other new drugs or new dosage forms which are still under investigation.

The comparative study shows wide variations in side effects of various compounds. A significant lower incidence was seen with Ortho-Novum than with other compounds tested. In compounds of this type, the side effects reported included breakthrough bleeding, and discomforts of early pregnancy such as nausea and breast tenderness.

Church To Hold Appreciation Service For Pastor and Family

REV. JAMES L. CUMMINGS MRS. NORMA JEAN CUMMINGS

On Sunday, August 18, members of Trinity CME Church will give profound appreciation to their pastor, Rev. James L. Cummings, his wife, Norma Jean and daughter, Denise Marie. The youth of the church will be in charge of this occasion.

This man, dedicated with seemingly boundless energy, is active in many religious, social and racial affairs. His vast and unscheduled itinerary includes his regular pastoral duties, his dial-a-prayer ministry and his interests in the N.A.A.C.P. He is secretary to the Ohio Annual Conference in the C.M.E. Church, president of the Indianapolis Ministerial Association, and he also has political aspirations as city councilman.

An integral part of this fine and eloquent young man's life is his devoted wife and daughter whose assuring love and encouraging words have been conducive to his success and popularity.

The congregation of Trinity are proud to have a minister that has proved himself to be a credit and an asset to their church and race, as well as to our community.

It has been said by one of our foremost leaders that, "Love transcends all barriers, whether they be religious, political or geographical." Our love and best wishes will follow Rev. James L. Cummings wherever duty calls.

The public is cordially invited to attend all services. A reception and fellowship will follow. The church is located at 2253 Martindale Avenue.

Erroll Garner Plays Concert at Painter's Mill Music Fair, Aug. 19

Erroll Garner will make his only Baltimore area concert appearance of the season at the Painter's Mill Music Fair, Owings, Maryland, on Monday, August 19th, at 8:30 p.m.

Accompanied by bassist Eddie Calhoun and percussionist, Kelly Martin, Garner will present a new program of improvisations based on show tunes, standards, and some of his own compositions.

Featured will be treatments based on selections from Garner's new best-seller album, ONE WORLD CONCERT. This is Garner's first live concert recording in seven years. ONE WORLD CONCERT was recorded during the pianist's week of concerts at the Seattle World's Fair. The album, which has won critical raves, includes MACK THE KNIFE, MISTY, SWEET AND LOVELY, and several other works.

Garner comes to Painter's Mill Music Fair from a record-breaking engagement at Chicago's London House. Prior to that, the pianist spent several weeks in Hollywood recording music from a forthcoming Paramount film, "A NEW KIND OF LOVE", starring Paul Newman and Joanne Woodward, for which Garner composed four themes. Garner recorded the film score with a 35 piece orchestra, conducted by Leith Stevens.

In September, Garner leaves for an extended concert tour of England and Europe.

organization was not trying to imply that race discrimination was evident, but that "we are concerned because of our belief that human beings should receive adequate and fair treatment."

"There seems to be many conflicting stories about the incidents which led to his (Hobbs) death and the after effects," the letter stated, "but there appears to be little if any consideration given to the parents in helping them bear their burden."

A top level conference between Gov. Welsh and Campbell was held Tuesday to investigate charges of neglect.

On Wednesday, Campbell said the Governor had asked that a complete report be given on the young prisoner's death.

The farm's 69-year-old doctor, Herbert E. Dester, denied that the youth was given improper treatment. Albert (Mike) Ellis, farm superintendent, said that Dr. Dester was a very capable physician and a fine gentleman.

Dr. Dester said that he had "for some months thought of leaving the farm, so much so that I have made plans for leaving the place." THE PARENTS of the dead boy, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Hobbs, said they learned of their son's illness after a state policeman called and informed them.

The caller reportedly told them that their son was sick and wished to see them.

Once at the farm, located at Putnamville, the parents said their son told them that he was "awful sick" and that he had been ill two weeks, but was only given medical care Aug. 5.

Upon seeing how sick her son was, the mother said she contacted Dr. Dester by telephone and told him how serious the situation was, but he reportedly told her it was his day off and that young Hobbs could last until morning.

At 6:30 p.m., Sunday, the mother said she and her husband received a telephone call. She said the caller stated to the father: "Are you the little short guy who came to see about this situation?"

Mr. Hobbs replied in the affirmative and the caller said: "Well, he died at 5 p.m."

SERVICES FOR HOBBS were to be held Aug. 17 at Mt. Olive Baptist Church, with burial in Floral Park Cemetery. The Dan Moore Mortuary is in charge of services.

Survivors besides the parents include a daughter, Meressa T. Hobbs, his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jones of Lansing, Mich., six brothers, Clarence, James, Tyrone, Rickey and Nathaniel Hobbs, all of this city, and Joseph Mason of Elkton, Ky., and two sisters, Florence and Nancy Hobbs.

13 Tons of Food, Clothing Taken to Mississippi Delta

Thirteen tons of food and clothing for Negroes hit by economic reprisals for the civil rights activities were delivered to the Mississippi Delta area last week by the Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ) and the Church of the Brethren.

THE FOOD was deposited with relief committees of Negro congregations in Greenwood and Clarksdale, Miss., and the clothing was left at Mt. Beulah Christian Service Center, a Disciples institution near Edwards, Miss.

Ian J. McCrae, director of human rights for the United Christian Missionary Society here, said the relief supplies were taken to Mississippi at the request of church people in the area.

McCrae, another Disciple, two Church of the Brethren officials and a truck driver accompanied the shipment, which was gathered mainly from congregations in Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, and Kentucky.

Negroes who have lost their farm jobs because of their agitation for equal rights are among those who will receive the clothing and food. The emergency supplies will be dispensed by Negro committees and church agencies set up to screen applicants for aid. "There is no question that economic reprisals are being used against Negroes that participate in any way in the civil rights movement," McCrae said on this return to his office here. He said many Negroes expressed appreciation "for this expression of concern on the part of people who do not know them."

A truck loaded with bales of cleaned and assorted clothing, food and kits for first aid, hygiene, infant care and schools left Indianapolis Sunday, July 21, and began dropping supplies off in Mississippi late the next day.

THE CLOTHING left at Mt. Beulah will be distributed in the Edwards vicinity under the supervision of Ozark Range, director of Negro work for Christian churches in Mississippi.

Food distribution is being handled by Aaron Johnson, pastor of First Christian Church, 100 E. Percy, Greenwood, and the emergency welfare and relief committee of Haven Methodist Church, Clarksdale.

McCrae, who said the relief program will be "further explored" before additional shipments are made, predicted "more food and clothing will be called for."

He noted that Aaron Henry of Clarksdale, president of the NAACP, has said economic reprisals have been launched against more than 78,000 Negroes in his state.

Cleveland Wins Fight For Jobs, Building Crafts

CLEVELAND (ANP) — An agreement worked out between Negroes protesting their exclusion from skilled construction jobs and labor unions, here last week, may become the formula for a massive breakthrough in the building industry for Negro artisans and contractors.

Herbert Hill, N.A.A.C.P. labor secretary, said in Washington that the Cleveland pact was "the most significant breakthrough we have had so far anywhere in the country" since the association and other civil rights groups began picketing construction sites.

He said he would recommend to local N.A.A.C.P. branches that they negotiate on the basis of the Cleveland terms.

The agreement covered the plumbing craft. It ended a work holiday called by union plumbers to protest hiring of two Negroes on the Cleveland Mail construction project and forestalled a mass picketing planned by Negro groups to back demands that Negro plumbers be put on that job.

The agreement not only resolved the problem of the one construction job in question but also held out the potential of a sizable influx of Negroes into the union.

Under it, Local 55 of the Plumbers' union agree to sign labor contracts with the Negro plumbing contractors.

It is estimated that there are 39 of these with about 150 employees.

All Negro journeymen employed by the Negro contractors will be admitted to membership in Local 55 as journeymen if they pass the journeyman's examination given by the local.

If an applicant for journeyman's status feels that the examination was unfairly administered or graded, he may appeal to a review committee. This will be composed of a nominee of the United States Department of Labor, one of the United Freedom Movement, a Negro group, and one of the national plumbers' union, which is called the United Association of Journeymen and Apprentices of the Plumbing and Pipe Fitting Industry.

The agreement also provides that the apprenticeship training program will be open to Negro applicants on the same basis as all other apprentices. Four Negro youths applied immediately. Labor Department in Washington officials hope that the agreement will become pattern for eliminating the barriers to Negro entry into skilled building trades jobs throughout the country.

Those who developed it say it has a number of advantages. It holds out the potential of bringing a sizable group of Negroes into the union at one time without laborious case-by-case fights. It puts the Negro contractors in a position to bid on larger jobs than usual since they will be unionized and will not meet with resistance from other unionized trades, and since they will be paying the prevailing wage scales required of contractors on Federal jobs.

Since the agreement includes the Negro contractors, the Negro journeymen will, in effect, be bringing their work with them into the local. This should pacify the apprehensions of white members who might otherwise feel that the entry of a large group of Negroes would mean more competition for the same amount of available work.

The agreement also eliminates a source of unorganized competition to unionized contractors.

New State Laws in Effect This Month

Approximately 350 new state laws are scheduled to go into effect late this week or next week. These laws were enacted by the regular and special sessions of the 1963 General Assembly. They will become effective after Gov. Matthew E. Welsh issues a proclamation, following distribution of bound copies to the county clerks of the 92 counties of the state, and receipt of acknowledgment of the same.

Among the new statutes is one giving the State Civil Rights Commission the power to issue cease and desist orders, after hearings on charges of discrimination in employment, education and use of public accommodations.

The commission's orders are made enforceable by court action in the new statute. Gov. Welsh has decreed already, by executive order, that all private businesses licensed by the state must make their facilities available to all citizens without discrimination.

Eventually issues confronted by the Civil Rights Commission concerning equal opportunities for employment or education may prove the most consequential in regards to promises to the Negro populace. It follows that the unemployment rate among Negro workers is ordinarily twice as high as among the major group of workers.

Notwithstanding, education or training plays a major role in this course or things. Heretofore the Negro youth or adult alike has been discriminated against in all programs of training for skilled work. And this applies particularly to apprenticeship or on-the-job training, yet training schools at the same time. Seemingly some variations of the total specter are in the offing.

Gov. Welsh in his executive order applying to use of public accommodations has set a courageous, historical and statesman-like precedent, incidental in progression of equality of opportunity on all fronts for all citizens. Notwithstanding, it follows as a highly controversial issue on the community, state or national levels.

On all these levels opponents of legal measures ending discrimination against Negro people in regards to use of public accommodations are first persuaded by the tradition of "master race" involving innately superior and inferior peoples. However, a sustained clamor in some areas has been arrayed around "the right of freedom of association" or the "invasion of private property rights." Contrarily, today the issue is mainly mitigation of an outmoded tradition.

Operators or owners of facilities of public service or accommodations are eventually really the like, or they are not the like. Anywhere in the land they have the opportunity to protect themselves. They can set any standards they choose in regards to use of their services or accommodations. Yet such standards should not be based on national origin, creed or race.

Whatever the standards maybe they should apply to any or all comers alike. Such standards, in keeping with the class, type or nature of facility of service or accommodations might be necessary. But again they should apply uniformly without discrimination to any or all members of the public. Any other course of things is in conflict with a rebirth of the spirit and letter of fundamental laws of the land. Finally here at "the cross-roads of America" it appears we are moving forward in nobly saving the last best heritage of earth.

"Wisdom of Mankind Creeps Slowly On..."

'Tis always morning somewhere in the world

The wisdom of mankind creeps slowly on, Subject to every doubt that can retard Or fling it back upon earlier time.

—RICHARD H. H. HORNE (1803-1884)

The attitude or position taken recently on the issue of prayer in public schools of the land by various top-level southern politicians has disturbed unduly a reader throughout the years of The Recorder.

Our longtime constituent, of various admirable characteristics, debates the situation or circumstances under which most top-level Dixie politicians associate everything they oppose with communism. Or again he observes that a majority of the people of our land "claim" a belief in the Christian and Judaistic God. Yet by their deeds or the seed they sow one may not always recognize them.

Herein, he observes that in keeping with differing opinions and philosophies on theology, it does not appear that all non-believers should be, or can be inapplicable labeled as atheists, many times or places of the "communist persuasion."

More directly our reader observes that despite all manners of media for engendering wisdom or knowledge of the truth in our times, the spread of wisdom sometimes or places appears geared to the "ox-cart age." On this point he contends that the spirit and tenets of the Christian and Judaistic creeds have never prevailed in public schools of our land. Yet various Dixie politicians claim that "God has been taken out of the public schools, and Negro children put in them."

We propose that error or falsehood abides in twilight shadows. Yet it is always morning (day) somewhere, but the eternal truth will prevail in daylight or darkness. In earlier times, or today, or tomorrow, truth crushed to the earth will rise again. This cannot be said about the cause or way of error or the falsehood.

We conclude on an observation of our reader, "... the melting pot of humanity that has become the U.S.A. is not the 'witness-box of Salem witchcraft traditions. Moreover a public school is a place of education for all children under 'The Stars and Stripes' in keeping with the spirit and letter of fundamental laws of Our Republic, and without discrimination in any instance."

Otherwise, we contemplate the forebears of many, many children here, or hereafter attending public schools in the "melting pot" or under "The Stars and Stripes" might include Buddhists, Shintoists, true Moslems, Brahmins, or others from Asia, Africa and all the isles of the seas as well as Europe. And others might include some non-believers. Yet according to well-grounded traditions some non-believers were among the several authors of the Declaration of Independence and the U.S. Constitution. And as the wisdom of mankind creeps slowly on, this has been the American way (U.S.A.) of life.

Negro Press Creed the United States of America can best lead the world away from racial and national antagonism when it accords every man, regardless of race, color or creed, his human and legal rights. Hating no man, fearing no man, the Negro Press strives to help every man in the firm belief that all are hurt so long as any one is held back.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Great Test of Faith

REV. J. T. HIGHBAUGH, Editor

(Larger Lesson: Gen. 22:1-14. Lesson Print: Gen. 22:1-14. Motto: Heb. 11:17. Time: B.C. 1872. Place: Land of Moriah.)

This is the last look into the great pioneer's life this week. I wish I had time to review such a life more.

The chapter opens with "after these things." These things are memories too of joy and of sorrow. (1) The birth of Isaac (Gen. 21:1-8), the long longing for and promised son. (2) The casting out of the bond woman and her son (Gen. 21:1-21), a painful yet much needed operation on the spiritual home life of Abraham and (3) the covenant with Abimelech (Gen. 21:22-34) or settling down to bring a neighbor.

So here after all the problems are cleared up and the old man is ready to live a quiet life. Life, the real test comes in the following three divisions:

1. God's Supreme Test of Abraham (Gen. 22:1-6). II. Isaac's Test of Faith (Gen. 22:7-10). III. The Lord will Provide (Gen. 22:11-14).

GOD'S SUPREME TEST OF ABRAHAM. After the promised son had come into the home, the household was ready to accept him as prince of the house of Abraham.

After the moral smear and blur of the bond woman and the insolence of Ishmael was cleared up by their being gone and after a peaceful sense of community is developing with one of the most prominent and wealthy chiefs in the territory, then this test comes no doubt as a bolt out of the blue.

Isaac is the only son now to a man 117 years old and whom God has blessed with a miracle in his very birth. So you can see what thy son, thy only son, that thou lovest meant.

And God knew how close He was coming and what sacrifice He was asking Isaac and Sarah too. Here was a whole family bound up in sacrifice. But here very early in the morning Abraham awakens Isaac and two servants and gets on his way to obey God's former promises.

So over the hot sandy desert for three long days to the Mount of Moriah they traveled. This is the Mount upon which David chose that his son Solomon should build a temple to Jehovah (1 Chron. 3:1).

Maybe I should not say this but I have often wondered why God took this test to prove Abraham. Why the offering of his son, his only son, and the son of the promised nation.

First, I agree with Dr. Horace Biddell of Yale Divinity School who said that "in a land and of a cultural background where they offered their children in sacrifices to their gods, no doubt God chose this test to prove to both Abraham and Isaac that He never willed such, but would offer an animal in typical sacrifice and His only begotten Son, the Lamb of God, in real sacrifice." So He gave this command to refuse it as a way of sacrifice.

ISAAC'S TEST OF FAITH. It takes great abandonment on the part of Isaac to climb the hill, to carry the wood up the hill to surrender to being bound to the altar. All this proves something sterling in young Isaac too.

God must have been very real in Isaac's life as He ask the opening question: "My Father called Isaac. Here am I my son. Here is the fire and here is the wood, but where is the lamb for the burnt offering?"

The answer: "God will provide for Himself a lamb for a burnt offering." What implicit confidence that God never lets His own people with faith down. We are His people now. The believers in Christ are of the seed of Abraham (Gal. 3:6-9).

THE LORD WILL PROVIDE. So up the hill faithful Abraham and faithful Isaac went side by side. The father came along with the fire and the knife. Both believed that God Himself would provide for Himself a whole burnt offering.

And he laid Isaac on the altar and bound him. Here was great surrender on the young man's part. Here was a letting go and a letting God do for us what we could not do for ourselves. The young man could have refused, for he had more vigor than his elderly father.

Here was putting God's will first in life. "Seek ye first in the Kingdom of God and His righteousness (Matt. 6:32)."

God sees faith like that of Abraham and Isaac and respects it. Here the will is as good as the deed.

How to Become A Rights Leader In One Easy Lesson

By Andrew W. Ramsey

If the newness has worn off your Cadillac; if your favorite brand of Scotch no longer peps you up; if you have grown tired of contemplating your split-level house and you have grown bored looking at the castles of Europe or the exotic beauties of Hawaii and Mexico, why not try a hand at being a civil rights leader?

Participation in the civil rights evolution is the latest status symbol, especially for those who have up to now stayed aloof from the NAACP do-gooders and the like. And to be recognized as a civil rights leader is the key to all of the prestige places. Governors and mayors will call you by name and invite you in on top level discussions and the newspaper boys will find you live copy.

And there is really nothing to it. Since practically every Negro is desirous of becoming a first class citizen and since leadership is so scarce, you can get in on the act. Of course you can join a civil rights organization which has been long in the field and work up to an office of importance, but that way is so slow.

The best way is to form your own organization even if you do not know what the is- is- is. If you have a church or a convenient meeting place or office space, you can whip up an organization in no time. You can call together a few community "leaders" and complain to them that such and such an organization has been in the field so long and yet the job remains undone. It is easy to find evidence that the Negro is treated as a second class citizen in your community and you can lay the blame for its continued existence on the inactivity of the organization or organizations which have been in the field for so long. The "leaders" will believe that just as they will believe it when you call them leaders.

NEXT APPOINT an organization committee with yourself as the temporary chairman and outline a program of intended action and give the story to the press. Get a printer to fix you up a lot of fancy looking letter-heads and put on them the names of well known citizens. Of course you can ask them in front, but that is a lot of brother and most of them will not mind being connected with a civil rights group, for as we said at the outset civil rights belong in the status-giving category.

You are now in business. The next thing is to hold an election in which you are elected president. Collect a few dollars for stamps and so forth and arrange to have a mass meeting with an outstanding civil rights leader as the speaker and take up a collection—a fighting fund. After the speaker is paid, you should have enough money to buy more stamps, have pictures and cuts made and send a few well publicized telegrams to public officials.

In such an organization either action or a reasonable facsimile is a must. Large mass meetings in which all of the wrongs of the community are recited will suffice to keep the rank and file quiet for a while. Sending a committee to call upon the mayor or the governor with a grievance will help to keep the organization alive for a while and keep your name before the public.

If you are at a loss for some more concrete things to do either join or have some of your key members join an experienced civil rights group and study its organization and program. Now you are really ready to do battle for civil rights.

STAY ONE JUMP ahead of the other organizations in the field at least publicity-wise. If they are getting ready to have a housing conference, have a housing conference a few days earlier. It does not matter if you don't have time to work it up properly. You will have taken the initiative and when the other organization has its housing conference, you can easily get the public to believe that it is really copying after your group.

Of course such tactics might put a few obstacles in the way of the solution of many of the civil rights problems, but so what. If the problems were to get solved, there would be no need of your organization and you would lose your prestige as a civil rights leader.

Your organization might try a few direct action projects and you might land in court with the funds necessary to fight your case through. In that event you can always call upon the organizations which are used to such things and get them to bail you out. If you have a case that has to go to the Supreme Court; what is the NAACP Freedom Fund for anyhow?

Of course it is entirely possible that after you start playing civil rights leader you might actually become more interested in civil rights than in the prestige which comes from your ersatz leadership. In that event you can join the NAACP and take your organization with you or you could agree to work with the NAACP or CORE or any other well organized and experienced civil rights organizations. Of course that would mean giving up state and local rights and joining the ranks in the war against second-class citizenship instead of marching in front of a status giving group.

THIS IS THE END of the only lesson in this course. You can look around you or read the newspapers of those who have become civil rights leaders in the past few months and see that the formula works. Good luck.

Letters to the Editor...

Writer Proud of Being One Of Thousands at Cardinal Meet

To The Editor:

Thousands of people went to St. Rita's Catholic Church to see His Eminence Laurian Cardinal Rugambwa of Tanganyika, Africa. When I saw bishops, priests and other high church officials get down on their knees and kiss his ring, I shouted within my heart:

"Thank God I lived to see it." In Psalms 68:31, God said: "Princes shall come out of Egypt; Ethiopia shall soon stretch out her hands unto God." The word "Ethiopia" comes from a Greek word "Ethiop" meaning sunburned, black or dark.

Dignitaries bowed to God's Word. They had no straight hair. It was kinky like David's and Solomon's and was what John the revelator and Daniel the prophet spoke of.

Some of you may not remember the high-sounding words of Bishop Fulton J. Sheen of New York who knelt down and kissed the ring on the finger of my brother from Africa. He said: "Keep your eyes on Africa. She is coming."

I have on my table the picture of Atty. Henry J. Richardson presenting a life membership plaque in the NAACP to Cardinal Rugambwa, as Gov. and Mrs. Matthew E. Welsh look on.

I went to have a photo of the picture developed, so now when I want inspiration to write, I look at the picture.

Can you now see Ethiopians are stretching out their hands to God? It is a shame, disgrace and blot on the land of the brave and so-called free that a black cloth and ashes should form a veil over the goddest of liberty in the New York harbour. Justice is hanging her head in shame.

I WONDER all day what the Cardinal would have said if he had the privilege to see the firehouses, bricks, stones, clubs, cowpods and other weapons used on the Negroes whose bodies are beneath the earth in no man's land for the same people who are holding the destructive weapons. No man can stop God's Word.

EYE INJURIES

THE eye is very vulnerable to injury, such as being struck by a well-aimed fist. The resulting black eye, a contusion or bruise of the soft parts around the eye, is ordinarily not serious; the discoloration can be limited by the application of cold water or a cloth dipped in cold water and then rung out. Should there be any loss of vision however, whether or not the eye discolors, medical aid should be sought immediately.

Chemicals are another hazard to the eyes, damaging the eyelids, conjunctiva and cornea; the extent of the damage will depend on the particular chemical and also on the length of time the chemical is allowed to remain in contact with the eye. Immediate washing of the eye with water is the most important first step in treatment. Lacerations of the eyelid, not affecting the eyeball, should be sutured by a doctor as soon as possible. Lacerations of the eyeball are more serious, and the eye so injured should be immobilized immediately to prevent, as far as possible, future complications.

Proper emergency treatment in severe eye injuries should not be delayed; this treatment will usually be given by a general practitioner, who will direct his efforts toward preventing further damage until the patient can be seen by an ophthalmologist.

Responsibility, Writer Avers Negro Not Assuming His

To the Editor:

For the last hundred years the Negro had to fight for every single achievement he has made, especially in housing, education and jobs.

Let us take a look at the other side of the coin. The Negro has not and still is not assuming his responsibility.

We are obligated to ourselves and to posterity. What will posterity think of us in the year 2000?

Many of our demonstrations here in the north are absolutely useless. For example, here in New York City we want a 50-50 in our schools of Negro and white children.

What we should be asking for is more money and better teachers for our schools. It seems to me that we are more interested in our children sitting in class rooms with white children than we are interested in them getting a good education.

Where are the middle and upper class Negro? What role is he playing in the arena of the Negro? Is he trying to hide himself in white society and forget about the less fortunate Negro?

Where are our business corporations? We as members of the Negro race should stop kidding ourselves and do less demonstrating and take on more responsibility. The Negro as a whole has become too individualist. He is mostly interested in himself and himself alone.

The only thing we have to offer is a few banks, insurance companies and other small business such as: grocery stores, restaurants, bakery shops, beauty salons, barber shops, candy stores, etc.

Thousands of Negro boys and girls are coming out of schools and colleges each year. Do they have any one among the Negro race to look to for jobs?

The white man is not as bad as some of us think he is. It is not so much as what the white man is doing, but it is what the Negro is not doing.

"WHY DON'T YOU FELLOWS quit picking on those Yankees?" the man said. "Why don't you break down and admit they've been one helluva ball club down through the years and still are?" ... the man, a Negro sharecropper who was born out where men are men, never had been east of the Mississippi River until he moved to Indianapolis ... but he's a Yankee fan from 'way back ... 'If it wasn't for the Yankees," the man continued, "most clubs in the American League would go bankrupt (a quick check of attendance figures revealed the Yankees drew 38,851 fans the other night in Los Angeles and that in 37 previous dates the Angels had averaged only 11,234).

"WHY DON'T YOU FELLOWS check the roster," said the man, "and you'll discover the Yankees find and develop their own to a far greater extent than any other team in the majors ... I don't know why this is ... maybe the Yankees have superior scouts ... maybe the Yankees have superior managers and coaches for their farm clubs ... but you can't get away from the proved fact that the Yankees year-in-and-out come up with the superior youngsters ... check it, and let's give credit where credit's due."

SO WE CHECKED THE WHITE SOX and Yankee rosters ... the man was right ... very right ... the White Sox have only eight players (two pitchers, two catchers, an infielder and three outfielders) who were signed and developed in the club's farm system ... the Yankees have 17 players developed by their own organization ... Cletis Boyer, Roger Maris, Hector Lopez and Stan Williams are the only Yankees who count at this time as obtained in trades with other clubs.

OF THE WHITE SOX ON THE varsity roster at the present time the following can be rated as products of the club's farm system:

Dave DeBusschere—acquired as a free agent April 1, 1962, for $75,000 bonus ... 10-1 last season with Savannah ... a key disappointment to date this season.

Gary Peters ... broke in with Holdrege, Neb., in 1956 ... purchased from Indianapolis Sept. 8, 1959 ... with San Diego in 1960 and 1961 ... with Indianapolis in 1962 ... has shown well first half of the season.

Camilo Carreon ... broke in with Holdrege in 1956 ... acquired from Indianapolis Sept. 8, 1959 ... batter .256 in 106 games last season ... just a journeyman catcher.

J. C. Martin ... broke in with Holdrege in 1956 ... acquired from Indianapolis Sept. 8, 1959, as third baseman ... was changed into a catcher last season with Savannah where he hit at a .328 clip in 94 games ... in first season as major league catcher ... valuable because he also can play third or first.

Al Weis ... broke in with Holdrege in 1959 ... acquired from Indianapolis Sept. 14, 1962 ... batted .296 last season with Indianapolis ... can play second, third or shortstop ... switch hitter.

Jim Landis ... broke in with Wisconsin Rapids in 1952 ... purchased from Memphis Oct. 16, 1956 ... best Chisox season in 1958 with .277 batting average and 64 RBIs ... currently batting .231.

Michael Hershberger ... broke in with Lincoln, Neb., 1959 ... acquired from San Diego Aug. 28, 1961 ... batted .262 last season in 148 games ... currently batting .294.

Floyd Robinson ... broke in with Boise in 1954 ... purchased from San Diego Aug. 6, 1960 ... real pro with .310 and 59 RBIs in 1961 and .312 and 109 RBIs last season ... currently around .300.

Nigerian Chief, 50, Wanted In On Tiger-Fullmer Fight

IBADAN, Nigeria (ANP)—History was made in several ways here Saturday night, August 10, when Dick Tiger of Lagos, the first Nigerian ever to win the middleweight title, successfully defended his crown by cutting American challenger Gene Fullmer to ribbons and stopping him on a technical knockout in the seventh round in the "first" world championship fight ever held in Nigeria.

The fight was halted when Fullmer, 33, from West Jordan, Utah, told Referee Jack Hart of England he couldn't see because of blood rushing from a cut over his right eye, and begged him to stop the fight. The referee mercifully obliged Fullmer and declared Tiger, 33, the winner of the fight that had been scheduled for 15 rounds.

Tiger, anxious to finish the at hand and eager to please his countrymen, waded into Fullmer from the opening bell, and gave the American the worst whipping of his career. He slashed Gene over and below both eyes and pummeled him relentlessly about the body. Dick did such a thorough "paint job" on Fullmer that as he hammered him in the sixth and seventh rounds, blood spattered in all directions.

MEANWHILE, the crowd, totalling more than 35,000 and paying approximately $225,000, kept calling on Tiger to finish it. "Tiger! Tiger!" screamed the fans. "Finish him! Knock him out!" He did.

Yet, when it was over, the crowd cheered Fullmer (for his courage) as well as Tiger, who was given a tumultuous ovation. Then the happy and delirious fans tried to mob him in the ring, and small fights broke out among them and the police before order was restored.

The fight was postponed twice, the last time when Fullmer sustained a foot injury in training. Then just hours before the fight, Chief Joseph Modupe Johnson, a tubish man of 51, threatened to "dissolve" the country's boxing board of control and "appoint a caretaker committee" because the board had denied him a boxing license.

CHIEF JOHNSON, a cabinet member attached to the labor and sports departments of the government, wanted a license to fight Jack Toller, retired professional Ghanaian heavyweight in a four-round preliminary bout on the Tiger-Fullmer card to prove "a man is not finished when he passes 50." His wife said he was nuts.

Both John and Toller, also 50-plus, are 200-pounders.

Veteran Woody Moore Brightens Teams 1963 Football Plans

Woody Moore, former Indiana University football star, this week signed a 1963 contract with the Indianapolis Warriors of the professional United Football League. The Warriors began its third season with spring practice Monday.

President Jack Thompson of the Warriors, in announcing Moore's signing, said he probably would be used as a passing halfback. Moore is a 6-0, 200-pounder from Duquesne, Pa., who as a quarterback played a large part last year in I.U.'s return to grid respectability.

Moore, the son of a Negro father and an Indian mother, had been with the Chicago Bears of the National Football League but was released because a knee ailment had not completely healed. Thompson said, however, that Moore would be ready for the Warriors' opener against Grand Rapids Labor Day.

As Moore starts his first season with the Warriors, he is surrounded by a veteran core of Negro stars such as Buddy Allen, Vince Birdin, Randy Williams and Vic Jones.

Allen, a speedy flanker back, and Birdin, a quick defensive back, are holdovers from the 1962 squad. Williams, a 6-2, 215-pound halfback, and Jones, a 6-0, 220-pound fullback, are returning to the football wars after a year off. Both men are also ex-Indiana University football stars and both had a lot to do with the Warriors fine showing in 1961.

RAY NOLTING, new Warrior coach and a former Chicago Bear star halfback, firmly believes that this year's Warrior team will be the strongest and best ever. The reason for his optimism is obvious.

In addition to Allen and Birdin, back in the fold from the 1962 club are such stalwarts as Don Benbow, a former Butler University star and an all-UFL guard; quarterback John Talley, line-backer Jim Thomas and rugged lineman Bob Boak.

Wally Foltz, who started part of last year at tight end, is expected back after an Army stint, along with place-kicker Dan Ane and Tom Cousineau, a 6-0, 245-pound offensive tackle who played with the 1961 team.

Defensive halfback Harvey Keaton and defensive end Bob Hunt also returnees from last year's squad. In addition, Nolting announced that the Warriors have another quarterback, Mike Mosloff, from the University of Idaho, whose expected to give Tally a tough battle for the quarterback slot.

The newcomers, in addition to Moore and Mosloff, are offensive tackle Joe Golden, 6-3, 250, from Virginia State; offensive guard Mack Miller, 6-1, 220, from Prairie View (Tex.); A & M; fullback John Caldwell, 5-11, 210, from Morris Brown; center Wilbur Mapp, 6-3, 230, from North Carolina A & T; offensive end Ed Francois, 6-2, 195, from Tennessee A & I; offensive end Tom Calbert, 6-5, 220, from Central (Okla.) State College; and placekicker Skip Ohl, 5-8, 218-pound lineman from Purdue. There are other vision clubs Grand Rapids and Toledo and two against Syracuse, Cleveland and Wheeling of the Eastern Division.

The Warriors have five home games in the middle seven weeks of the season. After the opener, Syracuse is in town Sept. 21, Wheeling Sept. 28, Toledo Oct. 12, Grand Rapids Oct. 19 and Toledo again Nov. 2. The final home tilt is against Cleveland Nov. 16.

All of the home games are booked for 8 p.m. except the Labor Day opener when the kickoff is at 7 o'clock. The Warriors games will be played at Victory Field.

16th Annual Dust Bowl Shaping Up Slow But Sure

A power-packed field was reportedly shaping up this week for the 16th annual Dust Bowl basketball tournament scheduled for Saturday and Sunday at Lockefield Gardens, but it looks like the official entry list won't be known until the drawing take place at 7:30 p.m. Friday, according to PAL Club Officer James Gaines.

This is due to the fact that entries in the famous tourney this year are unusually slow coming in, and as Officer Gaines puts it, "I guess they will enter at the last moment."

At this writing only a minimum of entries have been reported to the Recorder although the maximum of 16 teams, sporting such basketball luminaries as Halie Bryant, Hershell Turner and Willie Merriweather, are expected to be on the Lockefield playground when play begins at 10 a.m. Saturday.

A FIRST GLANCE, though, it appears that Prather's Hotshots, boasting a fabulous array of former Attucks and Shortridge stars, and the Fall Creek Y. Big Five, are the teams to beat.

Prather's features such stars of the past and present as Bob Eldridge, formerly of Arsenal Tech; Larry McIntyre, ex-Attucks star; Milton Ballard, Bobby Edmonds and Nate Clay.

The few teams as reported to the Recorder on Tuesday (in addition to those already mentioned) include:

The Eastside; Marion College; Roadrunners; Lockefield; Ryle All-Stars; and the J.P. Boys.

The Dust Bowl championship game will start at approximately 6 p.m. Sunday.

Ex-I.U. Grizzer Draws Attention In Eagles' Camp

HERSHEY, Pa.—The newcomer drawing the most attention here at the Philadelphia Eagles' preseason training base isn't a fast-stepping ball carrier or a 300-pound fire-eating lineman.

To the surprise of many the head coach Nick Skorich spends most of his time watching 195-pound defensive back Nate Ramsey.

BAXTER SAID that he had talked with promoters Julius Piazza of Saginaw and Ralph Locke of Jackson about the bout and that it would be held in Muskegon, Detroit or Flint.

Baxter revealed that Michigan boxing commissioner David Gudelski had sanctioned the bout as a world title match despite the fact that the World Boxing Association recognizes Willie Pastrano as the world titleholder. (Michigan is not a member of the WBA).

Baxter said that Pastrano had refused repeatedly to meet Hank in a title bout. Baxter also said that he had turned down a $10,000 guarantee from an official of the Madison Square Garden for Hank to meet Johnson in New York.

Hank recently scored a unanimous 12-round decision over Ed Zaremba of Jackson in the state light-heavyweight scrap.

The Clowns have not only lived up to the title of "Baseball's Comedy Kings," but have also proven themselves as proud diplomats of colored baseball as in basketball.

Some Clowns' graduates in the major leagues today are Hank Aaron (Milwaukee); John Wyatt (Kansas City); and Choo Choo Coleman (New York Mets).

The team now features Nature-moy Williams, first baseman, and Billy Vaughn, the only midget to play professional baseball regularly.

Actually, the Clowns tour the U.S. and Canada, playing the best minor league, semi-professional and all-star teams.

Willie McCovey is NL Player Of Month

CINCINNATI—Big Willie McCovey, San Francisco Giants slugging outfielder, was named the National League "player-of-the-month" for July after he batted .310 for the month on 36 hits in 116 times at bat.

McCovey at Presstime Thursday was also leading the major league with 33 home runs, two more than his nearest competitor, Hank Aaron of the Milwaukee Braves.

Detroit's Pride, Henry Hank Sees World Title Bout

DETROIT—A list that includes four of the leading contenders has been proposed to gain an opponent for Hammerin' Henry Hank in a world light-heavyweight championship fight which will be held in Michigan in September.

Harry Baxter, Hank's crafty manager, announced this week that several promoters are interested in staging the title bout featuring Hank against either one of four opponents. Named as possible foes were Gustav Scholz of Germany, Erich Schoppner of Germany, Eddie Cotton of Seattle and Harold Johnson of Philadelphia.

BAXTER SAID that he had talked with promoters Julius Piazza of Saginaw and Ralph Locke of Jackson about the bout and that it would be held in Muskegon, Detroit or Flint.

Baxter revealed that Michigan boxing commissioner David Gudelski had sanctioned the bout as a world title match despite the fact that the World Boxing Association recognizes Willie Pastrano as the world titleholder. (Michigan is not a member of the WBA).

Baxter said that Pastrano had refused repeatedly to meet Hank in a title bout. Baxter also said that he had turned down a $10,000 guarantee from an official of the Madison Square Garden for Hank to meet Johnson in New York.

Hank recently scored a unanimous 12-round decision over Ed Zaremba of Jackson in the state light-heavyweight scrap.

The Clowns have not only lived up to the title of "Baseball's Comedy Kings," but have also proven themselves as proud diplomats of colored baseball as in basketball.

Some Clowns' graduates in the major leagues today are Hank Aaron (Milwaukee); John Wyatt (Kansas City); and Choo Choo Coleman (New York Mets).

The team now features Nature-moy Williams, first baseman, and Billy Vaughn, the only midget to play professional baseball regularly.

Actually, the Clowns tour the U.S. and Canada, playing the best minor league, semi-professional and all-star teams.

Willie McCovey is NL Player Of Month

CINCINNATI—Big Willie McCovey, San Francisco Giants slugging outfielder, was named the National League "player-of-the-month" for July after he batted .310 for the month on 36 hits in 116 times at bat.

McCovey at Presstime Thursday was also leading the major league with 33 home runs, two more than his nearest competitor, Hank Aaron of the Milwaukee Braves.

Nation's Golfers Shoot For 37th Annual UGA Open Title

WASHINGTON, D. C. — More than 500 golfers from all sections of the country are expected to converge on this city Aug. 19 for the United Golfers Associations' 37th annual tournament to be played over Langston Golf Course and at least two other public links.

The seven division tournament, with a pro award of $2,000, will extend through August 23 and will be followed by a $1,000 added Pro-Am tourney on August 24-25. Most of the participants are expected to remain in the city for the Pro-Am contest to be held at the Langston site. Four local UGA affiliated clubs — Wake Robin, Arlington, Divots, Oxon Blades, and the Royals—are hosting the tournament.

REGISTRATION WILL be held on Sunday, August 18, at the Hotel Continental, tournament headquarters, North Capitol Street, between D and E Streets, N.W.

Amateur registrations must be made before midnight, Sunday, Aug. 18. All social events for the tournament will be housed at the Continental and in neighboring Capitol Hill hotels.

A highlight of the tournament events will be the presentation of "Hall of Fame" Awards to three well-known members of the UGA during the Association's annual reception. Mrs. Paris B. Brown, UGA national tournament director, Washington, D.C.; Mrs. Jeanette W. Nelson, Detroit, and Howard Wheeler, Philadelphia, are the pending honorees.

The Coca-Cola Company, Atlanta, Ga., a long-time supporter of UGA activities, will sponsor the "Hall of Fame" plaques and all amateur trophies for the seven-division UGA nationals, while the internationally known soft drink company will promote its hole-in-one club during the tournament.

THE HOLE-IN-ONE contest is offering as prizes $1,000 to pros and complete top-quality golf clubs and bags to amateurs. At Langston, holes 12 and 14 will be the contest holes. Pros and upper flight amateurs will compete at hole 14, while all other participants will play hole 12 in the contest.

Wanted: Bowlers For Fun Bowl's Winter Leagues

Fun Bowl recreation, the West-side firm that has grown into one of the most popular bowling alleys in the entire city, was to have its grand re-opening Friday, August 16, and the management expects both old customers and newcomers to take advantage of their newly redecorated facilities.

Bill Brown, manager at the "New" Fun Bowl, disclosed details of the extensive redecorating which has taken place and added that there is such a vast difference in the establishment that even the old customers won't recognize it. A SPECIAL FEATURE of the "New" Fun Bowl Recreation is the new acoustical ceiling and light fixtures, giving bowlers the best possible visibility—admittedly a must when trying to bowl that "300" game.

In what may be a significant move in its policy of satisfied customers, Fun Bowl Recreation announced that a new parking lot—immediately south of the building—will be open for the convenience of its customers.

Sneaking of customers, it would be difficult for the customer to avoid stopping in at the Fun Bowl Recreation when the urge to "roll a game" comes around. The reason is because the prices at Fun Bowl makes it that much easier to relax and enjoy the thrill of "mow'em down."

For example, the price of rolling a game at Fun Bowl during Open Bowling is only 35 cents or, if you prefer to roll three games, then only pay one (1) dollar. Where else in town will you find prices that reasonable?

Now, those persons wishing to sign up for the women's 8 O'clock Thursday night Handicap League or the men's 7 O'clock Friday night league may do so at the Fun Bowl, 750 N. West, or call ME. 4-9511 and register by phone.

Remember, the Fun Bowl cater to families, too!

SUGAR RAY Set To Fight In Montreal

MONTREAL — Promoter Regis Levesque said Thursday that Sugar Ray Robinson, one-time middleweight and welterweight boxing champion, would face Wilkie Graves, former Canadian middleweight champion, here on Aug. 22.

Dick (Night Train) Lane, Lions, and Herb Adderly, Green Bay Packers, shared top honors in the defensive back department.

Bobby Mitchell, Washington Redskins; Del Shofner, New York Giants, and Sonny Randle, St. Louis Cards, were deadlocked in the voting for the pass-catching leader.

Both the Packers and Giants were selected to repeat as division champions, Green Bay in the West and New York in the East.

The Pittsburgh Steelers' standing was hurt by the death of Big Daddy Lionscomb. Still the Steelers were rated over the Eagles.

Arch Ward Prize To Willie Mays

DETROIT—A unanimous choice Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants was named the winner of the Arch Ward Memorial Award as the outstanding player in the 1963 All-Star Game. The 1962 winners of the award, presented by the Rawlings Sporting Goods Co., of St. Louis, were Maury Willis of the L.A. Dodgers for the first game and Leon Wagner of the L.A. Angels for the second game.

Mays singled, stole two bases, drove in two runs, scored twice and made one of the game's best catches as the National League defeated the American League 5-3.

The Arch Ward Memorial is named for the late sports editor of the Chicago Tribune.

The following editorial appeared in The Criterion of Aug. 2, and is good reading on a much discussed subject. Here it is:

This summer, perhaps as never before, the American Negro has undoubtedly realized that he seeks freedom in the presence of many enemies.

Just 95 years ago this very week, the Fourteenth Amendment made him a citizen, stressed his rights against any "abridging" by a state, and thus made him an heir to our American traditions of opportunity and equality.

Yet the turbulent times surrounding the birth of that amendment also brought forth the hooded, night-riding Klansman, the first of many opposed to the Negro's hopes and aspirations. The years since have spawned many others, to this summer of dogs, hoses, and a rifle shot in the night.

But many who oppose the Negro are not violent; for there is a war that is fought only with words, with speeches from state capitol offices to committee rooms of the United States Senate. Here, the weapons are little more than a series of subtleties, daily predictable but enthusiastically advanced. You start with a solemn invocation to states' rights, emphasizing them to the point where human rights get left behind in the dust of rhetoric and your audience almost forgets that states are composed largely of people, which Negroes happen to be. Finally, you bring out the secret weapon, having learned in 1954 how easy it is to touch the national nerve by painting anything Red.

This is conventional word warfare against the Negro. He knows now, however, that he also faces "special forces," writers and thinkers a little more eloquent and formidable in style than state politicians.

Such people are, we think, indeed enemies to the Negro's cause. They have an intelligent ear to this and all the affairs of the nation. But, if they have heard the Negro's cry for justice, they choose to tell no one else. Instead, they choose to discredit his cause.

Although he is not alone in this respect, we have been shocked by several recent columns we have seen by Holmes Alexander. We have collected four in particular; and, as we look through them each time, they strike us on the whole as an insensitive, viciously derogatory analysis of the Negro's quest for freedom.

In the first column we clipped, Alexander claims it is "time to call the country to order" so that "a minority of malcontents" [any Negro demonstrators] "will not be permitted to demoralize the land." He sees no reason for America to be "cowed and reduced to kowtowing before lesser numbers."

In the next one, Alexander goes off on a large scale, lamenting the tendency of all Anglo-Saxon peoples to concern themselves with the human problems of minorities. He works in American civil rights conflicts with some, and about "rapid retreat in the face of menace." Being attentive to Negro aspirations turns out to be "not a good way to run a nation or conserve the wealth and glories of a great society."

His third effort distorts J. Edgar Hoover's testimony on Communist infiltration of Negro organizations to lead the reader to the conclusion that everything the Negro says and does would seem to go through Red channels.

The last Alexander column in our collection represents his coverage of the Governors' Conference in Miami. This time he regrets the very introduction of racial problems as a conference topic, seeing racism as a "horrid narcotic" and "a mania—a mania—which may very soon afflict us all."

We can't understand why a writer would devote four full columns to such intense, systematic downgrading and de-emphasis of the Negro problem. But we think people of conscience and moral sensitivity will repudiate his ideas as some form of intellectual night riding.

His writing is a warning to us all: a century past Reconstruction America; that it is possible—with absolutely no connection or link whatsoever with the Negro's first enemy—to wear a "hood" over our hearts, one sewn with the threads of apathy, the absence of charity, and the failure to hear the simple cry of another human being for what should be rightfully his because we are brothers.

use to serve Negroes is thru the courts and then to the ABC if there's a conviction... If there's no conviction... then to the Civil Rights Commission.

STOP IT: A fella told this column that he was refused service at the ofay tavern on 29th and there's a conviction... If there's no conviction... then to the Civil Rights Commission.

So the bartender or boss of fereed him drinks on the house, which he refused. But the girl with him was one day under twenty-one and, was not even asked her age... But the bartender demanded to know his... which is 28. The guy has a sweet case for revenge... in case he wants to even the score with a prejudiced tavern owner. This said that the young girl made a purchase.

(WOW!) DIJA KNO THAT Solomon had a son by the queen Sheba... and the son was Menelik I, first king of Ethiopia... and Haile Selassie, emperor of Ethiopia is a direct descendant and the 325th recorded ruler in an unbroken line of emperors.

What's Happening: Prominent persons are divorcing each other one day and marrying some one else the next few days... What's been goin' on heretofore? Reminds me of the fella who said his wife left him... and a few days later when he passed the house (he said he bought it) he saw another stud cutting the grass... and upon closer observation he turned out to be one of his fellow-workers... and the guy he had introduced to his wife at one of those company parties... Later his friend and his ex-wife became welded as one in holy matrimony... Another fella told of being put out of his home (it belonged to him) because of a separation... and when he returned to pick up his personal belongings another stud had moved into the pad, even before his tracks had cooled. This guy lost his head and proceeded to inflict injury on the body of the trespasser (or was he?) for which he was sorry. But he said he had to do it because the stud showed no respect for him. So they keep coming and they keep going...

Who knows the reason... After 5, 10, 15, 20, 25, 30 years of marital bliss (?) IS That Scool! SCHOOL BOARD: Hilary Jones, an attorney, was chosen unanimously as a member of the Norfolk (Va.) School Board, becoming the first Negro to serve on the board. (Heads Up—Indianapolis!)

OUR RECENT MARCH: Wouldn't it have been a wonderful thing if the majority of Negro marchers had contributed money (to buy stock) in a Negro bank, loan Co. or manufacturing company. We continue to talk loud but we ain't saying nuthin'. All we do is talk loud, buy fine cars, homes and clothes, and beg the white man to serve us a sandwich. What's keeping us from operating fine places downtown for both white and black. When the merchants close for a holiday in the mile square... there's only one place to buy a loaf of bread from a Negro. We shiver when we think of the millions of dollars spent for automobiles in this man's town... and without any Negro salesman cutting in on the profits. Ask yourself who sold you your fine 'chine and whether or not you could have bought it from a Negro... Think it over! It should make you cry!

NOW COMES police survey team with recommendation that policemen be taken off clerical jobs in headquarters... We said the same thing months ago. But we are strictly against one-man police cars.

IN THE MAIL: A nice scribe came in from the Rev. Leo Lesser, Jr., pastor of Greater St. James AME Church in Louisville, Ky. Enclosed was a clipping from The Louisville Defender showing picture of the new church at 21st and Oak. Cost of the edifice is $69,000. The old church bldg. was sold to the City Urban Renewal Agency. Also enclosed was a three-column pix of the Rev. Lesser and Donald L. Beckart, executive director of the Kentucky Commission On Aging, which also appears Continued on Page 13

The cats are really in there blowin' like mad. No wonder the English keep so cool!

(mix Gordon's Gin in a tall, iced drink—and you will, too!)

The English are not easily fazed, even by summer heat. This national talent was given a cheerful accompaniment in 1769, when Alexander Gordon introduced his remarkable gin.

The Gordon's you drink today harks back to his original formula, because one does not tamper with gin of such distinctive dryness and delicate flavour. Try it soon in a tangy Gin & Tonic or Tom Collins. You'll see why Gordon's is the biggest seller in England, America, and the world.

The suit asked for reasonable child support from Charles, whose legal name is Ray Charles Robinson. Miss Betts estimated his worth at more than $1 million.

NEW YORK — Roses are red, violets are blue but the Black man WILL ALWAYS BE BLACK. The Black man in America has been taught by the Caucasian to despise his own color. He has been taught to associate black with evil, and this has been the toil with which Whitey sought to have us destroy ourselves. There are those, no doubt, who wonder why we use the word Caucasian so often. Well, it's because I have never in all of my life ever seen a white man. If, by chance, I would see one I could run like hell 'cause I would readily assume that he had an unusual disease.

However, I have seen plenty of black people, some as black as the darkest night so here is the rub. The Caucasian man has taught all who would listen that white is pure and white is right. With this great lie, calling himself white, he has sought to brainwash all of the dark peoples of the world that he is something special and pure. What a farce. Some Caucasian in

"Hud" Opens Sunday at Walker Theater, Tells Story of Southwest

"Hud," opening Sunday at the Walker Theatre, stars Paul Newman in the title role and gives a valuable insight into the people and traditions of the Southwest. In addition to being the story of Hud, a very unusual and brutal individual, it also shows rather powerfully the motivations behind the men who forged great cattle empires out of desolate prairie land.

The Southwest was settled by strong men who accepted hardship as a condition of life. Their rugged, forbidding land posed a challenge to them. They liked the feeling of space, freedom, and harmony with their land, crops and animals. The cattleman was, and still is, the most independent of Americans. He chafed at restrictions, laughed at hardship, and built the mightiest cattle empire in the world. He is today the only producer of a major agricultural commodity who has never asked for government help and has rejected it when offered.

Such a man is Homer Bannon, played brilliantly by Melvyn Douglas. Homer Bannon in his eighties, failing in mind and body. In his youth he was known as "Wild-Eyes Bannon" an epithet which indicates he was as lusty and virile as any cowboy. Now his greatest pleasure is riding among his cattle, gazing at the great mountains and vast grazing lands of his ranch, and dreaming of the days when cattlemen were kings. He is an honest, noble man who reflects the finest traditions of our nation's cattle country.

His son Hud is not such a man. Hud, played with great force and virtuosity by Paul Newman, has the attitude of a slick city dweller—not a cattleman.

The People I Meet

you can think of. How proud are their descendants today of the breathtaking scandal that has rocked and is still rocking jolly old England? It is heartbreaking to think that Whitey, who is numbered among the scum of the earth, would dare to besmirch Black people just because their hue is dark. If BLACK is such a terrible color why does he allow a black dog to lick him in the mouth even when the dog has just finished licking it's hind parts? Why does he consider black such a becoming color to wear when he becomes fat and out of shape?

Why does he spend thousands of dollars, ya even millions, going to the beach and buying suntan oil in order that he can change his hue even for a little while? Black must be a pretty color and a useful one, eh what? Now that Whitey has his back to the wall, by pressure from without and within, he still has the gall to fight against giving us our full equal rights now. He has the nerve to say that he will endanger his race to mongrelization. Well, tho' that isn't true, what in hells bells does he think he forcefully did to us after enslaving us against our will? We are many different colors because he forcefully injected his filthy blood into the veins of our ancestors and he is still doing it today. He bastardized us because he himself is a bastard. There's nothing pure about him and the Black man of today is very much aware of this fact. Whitey is mad because we are finally, not only awake, but are busy fighting and demanding that he let us put this house called America in order, something that he has promised to do for the last one hundred years only to let us learn that his promises were and still are empty.

The eyes of the world are on America, the "twentieth century Sodom" and "Gomorrah" and if Whitey continues to battle against the truth and right he faces self annihilation and that's the worse kind of 'end of an era'. What fools some mortals be. For years he has said he would accept us as equals if we would leave his women alone. Stop getting drunk and acting a fool, throw away our SWITCHBLADES (while he keeps his machine guns and bombs), and live clean lives plus add something to the progress of the country — Well, the Muslims have done just that and now they are charged with being subversive. They say the Muslims are teaching and advocating 'Black Supremacy'. Well, we don't see anything wrong with that, especially when Whitey has been practicing white supremacy for so many years. How does he know he won't like living under black supremacy when he has never tried it. It certainly couldn't be any worse than living under white supremacy.

We don't give a fiddler's damn about what Whitey thinks of us for speaking our mind. He has never liked the truth 'cause it hurts him so damned much. Now that he has to walk through his own 'dung bed' he sees what a mess he has made of things and has never enough to still offer us tokens. Mr. Caucasian: The Black man here in America is awake and on the march. You are facing a 'Black Revolution' that has no ending until you give complete ground and realize that you have been inhuman in all of your dealings with us.

We are through with your empty promises and we're doing the job ourselves. If you continue to try to stop us now you will be more foolish than ever because you are facing 'total war'. We hope to leave soon for a different clime for awhile but we'll continue to 'give 'em hell' even as we walk our favorite beat, Sunset Boulevard in Hollywood, U.S.A., The City of Make Believe.
